Lawrence was our Toastmaster and proclaimed that this meeting's speakers were the big guns, and he was right. All 3 speakers gave outstanding speeches.

Sonja's speech was on "Unsung Heroes". It was an interesting, passionate speech about animals which included ways to help care for their wellbeing.

Autumn's speech was on "Work Life Balance". Her topic was a good one because it is such a challenge in today's world. She did a great job giving pointers to the group on how to achieve a better balance between these forces in our lives.

Deborah is a prolific speaker. I'm not sure how she does it. She is always ready and able to give a speech. Her speech, "Winning in Life" was another inspirational speech. She laid out the blueprint for increasing your chances to winning in life.

John Miller gave an award winning evaluation. Mitzi and I tied for second place. Shelley volunteered to be general evaluator and performed the role expertly.

Here is Eric's son torturing me with the smell of burger and fries. Oh the humanity!
